To our valued training customers,

In this time of rapidly evolving changes, we are committed to supporting each of our customers, providing the same level of service that you are accustomed to.

All member companies of Wolter Group LLC will remain open as we have been identified as a critical infrastructure supplier to the essential manufacturing, warehousing & logistics sectors.

We understand that for many, certain operations do not stop, and neither does their equipment. As your operator training and train-the-trainer experts, we are committed to helping keep you and your employees up to date on certifications. We will continue offering in-person classes, and will adapt to your company's policies.

To support you through today's pandemic, we are offering more options to keep your company OSHA compliant.

VIDEO CONFERENCING

Along with our traditional in-person training, we are now offering lift truck and aerial (MEWP) training via video conference technology.

How does it work?

- Student workbook, quiz, answer sheet, sign-in roster, and hands-on evaluation form will be provided to you prior to class date.
- We will provide a Zoom access link prior to class, where you will then participate in a face to face training class with one of our trainers.

How would we complete hands-on?

- Our trainer will come to your location, or one of your employees qualified to assess, will provide hands-on to your staff.

For training at your location, we will need the equipment fueled/charged, setup in a safe area, and ready for the hands-on assessment.

We are here to assist you in training during these difficult times. Please contact us to discuss options and schedule training that best suits your needs. Lift truck, aerial and other classes are being offered in operator training and Train the Trainer format. Limited dates are available; class times are flexible.

Sincerely,

The Training Team at Wolter Group LLC
